- Allows you to share files via email as text documents. - Generates a text from an image, or a text from an audio file. - Features: - Easy to use interface. - Works on both your PC and Mobile devices. - Converts back to pictures. - Automatically saves the converted picture. - Only 1 step to convert a picture. - Link: If you're looking to add a stylish touch to the top of your iPad, this funky teal laser cut ornament is just the thing to help you make a statement. Moo - Works with your iPad, iPhone or iPod Whatever, wherever Just like its name, the Moo animates whenever you hold your iPad up to it. Connect it to the back of your iPad and it will start making music. You can then put your iPad on a table and play music while you drink, or eat, or talk to your friends, or play games, or any of the many other activities you can do with your iPad. The laser cut ornament is made from wood, aluminum and a stainless steel pen. The pen magnet is adhesive and will stick to metal surfaces. A battery housing is included which is well protected by the laser cut design. The Moo will work with your iPad, iPhone or iPod touch. It will be pre-wired. You'll need a grounded electrical outlet for it to work. You can operate the ornament and its lights from the iPad's mute/volume control. The moo will turn on when the mute/volume control is pressed. It will turn off when the mute/volume control is released. Mount Options: - Stands: This is the place you can mount the moo on your iPad. There are a few different styles of mounts. - Wall wart: This is a screw-in plug. You can get a power supply to go with it. You can also get a cord instead of a wall wart. - Surface mount: You can get a small surface mount kit that is adhesive. You can use this for the bottom of your iPad, iPhone or iPod touch. - Other: This is for the other cool things you can do with your iPad, iPhone or iPod touch. > Visit moo.com Pixar is now releasing their first Doberman voice and personality for their upcoming Dora the Explorer series Dora the Explorer: Pirates

Get ready to watch the action that has been and will be. MLB has taken note of the event, and worked with FOX to bring us some coverage. You can catch up on all of the action online at FOXSports.com and MLB.com. Or if you'd rather, you can watch the game on FOX on our FOX Sports app for iOS and Android. Now here's the story. The WBC is held in six different host countries. Not only does each team have a home stadium, but they're also split into groups. Those groups are as follows: the Group A teams, the Group B teams, and the Group C teams. Today we're going to take a look at a very exciting matchup taking place in Group C. Group C, which is hosted in South Korea, is taking place from the 13th of March until the 20th of March. One of the teams, who will be looking to bring home the gold at the end of it all is the National Baseball Team of the Dominican Republic, or the Pinieros. For this game, they'll be facing off against the Chinese Taipei. This will be the first time that the Chinese Taipei have ever played in the WBC, and they'll be taking on an international team for the first time ever. Once the games are complete, we'll get to see the full final standings of the World Baseball Classic. For now, here's what you need to know. The Pinieros are looking to become WBC champions. Have a look at the lineup to see which starters are on the mound, and how they stack up to the Chinese Taipei. There are only two possible paths to get here. The first is through the top seeds, the Chinese Taipei. They're a team with some very bright prospects. Along with guys like  09e8f5149f

Convert images to text and back Resizable images Convert text to image and backQ: Using coordinates from PostGIS QGIS Processing plugin I have used the 'processing' plugin to generate a file of coordinates in a.shp shape file. These coordinates correspond to areas of interest for a spatial decision-making tool I am developing in QGIS. At the moment, for each of the 'non-relevant' areas, the plugin generates zero values. I would like to know what the point of including these coordinates is, as I can't figure out where I can obtain or use the same points. Here is a snippet of the output file's values: POINT(-152.78851 -34.56657), POINT(-152.78757 -34.56457), POINT(-152.78702 -34.56384) A: You can include it in your raw output shapefile, inside the field named "POLY_ID" and then use the "Import Into PostGIS" plugin that is available under Vector > PostGIS > Import into PostGIS. The tool will take all your features, add a new column called "POLY_ID" and set the value of this column with the value of your POINT field. I don't think there is any way to use this output shapefile in a different way. Comparative effects of 2 anabolic steroids on blood flow in the human prostate. We studied the effects of the anabolic steroid nandrolone decanoate (Deca) on blood flow in the human prostate by employing an indicator dilution technique. Ten patients with prostatic enlargement were included in this study. An intravenous injection of 1,5-dihydroxy-nandrolone decanoate was administered to each patient. The test dose was followed by serial injections of colloidal carbon. Blood flow was computed using the WinSpectral technique. Baseline blood flow was 5.7 +/- 0.2 ml.g-1.min-1 (mean +/- SE) and blood flow was 2.7 +/- 0.2 ml.g-1.min-1 after Deca treatment. Blood flow changes were significant (P less than 0.001). Peak and time-averaged flow were significantly decreased after Deca. These results indicate that Deca lowers blood flow in the prostate.
