The Hillary Clinton campaign is making noise about the popular vote, as though it has in any way proven the accuracy of her claim that she won the election. The claim is that the popular vote establishes that the majority of the country and the popular vote, as such, should carry the day, more so than the Electoral College. The Clinton campaign contends that, even though Donald Trump received more votes than Clinton, it is her victory because of the Electoral College, which is weighted more heavily in Clinton's favor. So the fight now is not about who won but who is right? The answer, if it can be determined, will be the courts. While Trump has complained that he should be entitled to the victory based on the popular vote, the voters will never get to enjoy that victory. Trump's victory is not a surprise, because the Electoral College gives him the victory, not the popular vote. As Donald Trump put it: "The electoral college is much more important." While the Clinton campaign is hectoring about the popular vote, what is not noted is that the popular vote is merely reflective of the popular opinion of who won. Those popular opinions were not reflected in the popular vote because Clinton's rightwing views had the majority in virtually all 50 states. Popular opinion: Clinton is a liar and a thief. She's only winning because of

Hotkey Utility Free Download

* Available in 16 different languages * Open documentation in its own browser * Works in any 32-bit or 64-bit Windows version * Easy to use with only a single click to launch applications Hotkey Utility is a lightweight Windows utility built specifically for helping users assign a set of key combinations in order to open their favorite documents, websites, games, audio applications, or any programs installed on the computer. The tool improves your work productivity, as it allows you run a program without having to look for the directory where the app is stored. Hotkey Utility automatically monitors the keyboard and when it recognizes the set of predefined key combinations, it launches the application. For example, if users set the combination keys to "instantshutdown," the utility automatically shuts down the computer. The program gives users the possibility to specify the hotkey, and define the action to be performed, such as open URLs, hide, close, minimize, or maximize windows, and restart or power off the computer. Since there aren't many configuration settings, even rookies can master the entire process with minimum effort. During our testing we have noticed that the tool carries out a task very quickly and without errors throughout the entire process. As it would be expected from such a small utility, it leaves a minimal footprint on system resources, so the overall performance of the computer is not hampered. All things considered, Hotkey Utility combines ease of use with functionality for helping you run applications or websites using hotkeys. Thanks to its intuitive layout and handy set of parameters, it is suitable for beginners and professional alike. What's New In Hotkey Utility?

Helps organize shortcuts with a click. Automatically recognizes the hotkeys. For example, you could have your browser open as a hotkey. Option to enter hotkeys manually. You can get any program you want as a hotkey. Choose how the program starts. It can work with PDF files as a web browser.

Hotkey Utility Interface: The user interface of Hotkey Utility is divided into two main components: The field displaying the hotkeys. Here you can type or select a set of hotkeys that will launch different programs or open different websites, with the required configuration of those actions. The field where you can enter the custom hotkey you’d like to start.

Hotkey Utility Key Features and Functions: Hotkey Utility is a user-friendly utility that offers more than 50 hotkey options you can use to launch your favorite websites or other applications. The tool detects the set of hotkeys you’ve defined and once you type a keyword, it automatically launches the corresponding programs. On the other hand, you can set a hotkey manually or simply wait until the tool detects it automatically. The application will help you work faster as it will allow you to launch websites directly from the main window of Internet Explorer or Firefox, without having to open a new tab or window. Once the hotkey is detected, it automatically launches the program. However, the interface is organized to allow users to configure the action they want to perform, as you can choose the links (open websites and websites), minimize, maximize, or close windows. Hotkey Utility relies on the concept of hotkeys, which means that you can save the activity you perform. While the built-in formats of hotkeys are “instant-shutdown” and “print,” in order to configure them, users will have to go through a couple of steps, but this is nothing you cannot handle in a few minutes. Hotkey Utility has a minimalist feel, so it loads quickly and without producing any stress on the computer. However, in case you want to change the attributes of the application such as the look or the appearance of your set of hotkeys, you can do so using the change the look of the menu. Users can also delete the assigned hotkey or insert new ones. The utility supports easy and quick configuration and is not that complicated.
