A 62-year-old man was admitted to the hospital because of an enlarged lymph node in the right supraclavicular area. Laboratory data on admission showed marked leukocytosis and monoclonal hypercalcemia. A bone marrow biopsy showed hairy cell leukemia (HCL). Serum protein electrophoresis revealed an increase in a distinct protein with an approximate molecular weight of 52,000. Serum immunoelectrophoresis showed an increase in the IgG lambda protein. Immunofixation electrophoresis showed a monoclonal band of IgG lambda. Serum lambda light chain level was 63 mg/dl and renal amyloidosis was observed on a renal biopsy specimen. Combination therapy of cyclophosphamide, vincristine, prednisolone, and interferon-alpha was effective. The therapy was discontinued 570a42141b
