In a statement on Wednesday afternoon, supporters' group Traveling Magpies have called on Newcastle United to address the debts and "financial crisis" they are facing. The supporters' group, which includes members from Newcastle United's Northern Hearts group, expressed their concern that the club's owners are "selling their souls to the devil" for short-term gain. In a statement, Traveling Magpies said: "They are selling their souls to the devil to make a quick buck. "They are only interested in the bottom line when they are in the red. "We want to see our club back on an even keel again. "This club is no better off than it was 20 years ago, in fact it is worse off. "Please get your house in order and fix this club.
