A: "Visual Data Connectivity" is (as far as I know) a vendor-specific Microsoft term for a tool that connects 2 or more different systems. Sql Server is one such tool. In this context, "Visual" refers to the visual interface offered by Visual Studio for managing the data in the database. Gun control, the most potent possible wedge between democratic values and authoritarian rule, has become an increasingly popular theme in US political rhetoric. Across America, bans on "assault weapons" or "high-capacity" magazines are gaining popularity, the National Rifle Association is suing to end a California law limiting ammunition sales, and some state legislatures are considering arming school teachers. Install .Related Links DELAWARE - After a season in which the wide receivers caught fewer passes than any in school history and saw their yards-per-catch average fall for the third straight year, Bob Diaco knows his job as a coach is to help his wide receivers get better at what they do. "Our best player right now is going to be out on the football field," Diaco said. "I can't put a player behind the bench. There's an entire team behind the bench." Just because the receivers were seventh in the Big East in catches and 10th in receiving yards doesn't mean their work went unnoticed. Diaco said Notre Dame was looking forward to watching Beilein's wideouts the past two seasons. "I think they expected to see them beat up a little bit," Diaco said. "We beat up on them." While the wide receivers surely will have a slight boost from their senior class, those three losses could have been crippling. Diaco is preaching the need to stay healthy and help each other along the way. Junior Gary Gray had no catches in the losses to Duke and Pittsburgh, and while his lack of production might not appear significant, Diaco said Gray is the "heart and soul" of the group. Freshman Shaq Jones led the team with 12 catches last season, but he was lost for the season with a broken arm before the end of spring ball. Juniors Kyle Carter (nine catches, 107 yards) and Matt Sokolowski (nine, 113) will need to step up if the wideouts are going to improve on a disappointing season. Diaco recognizes one of the biggest mistakes he made last year was not taking advantage of the wide receivers early in the season when the team was still finding its way. "We're not going to all of a sudden become dominant wide receivers," Diaco said. "If we continue to gain experience, we will have a chance to compete for a Big East championship." Diaco has no problem putting his players behind the bench and is confident he has three receivers who can do so. "We want to be dominant
