"Think 50 shades of grey, but with bugs." "What a title. Flappy Birds with rabbits? That's a game. Bees and a tetris demo? That's a game. Rats and dragons? That's a game. Bugs in Space? Eh, I suppose so? But MGS is still not a game. It's a cryptic-ish overlay. I'm going to play it as if it is a game, but with limitations. I don't like to play lots of blocks or shoot things that aren't in the right colour. I feel I should get a set of skills and a set of block and shoot colour combinations, then move forward and conquer. I have no idea how to do this." "...The whole game is a curio. It's like a bug, a voodoo doll. It wants to be taken seriously, but it's such a joke that it never quite manages it." "There's some serious ambition on display here, but it's a designer's dream project. It's a grand art experiment, but one so free-wheeling that it might never have any release." 10 / 10 - "It's the best thing since sliced bread." published:07 Jun 2018 views:18658 published:20 Oct 2018 views:21 Description THE ADVENTURES OF MR. BOBLEY The Adventures of Mr. Bobley is a physics based platformer adventure game featuring different vehicles and challenging puzzles based on your use of those vehicles. Our heroine is Mr. Bobley, a construction worker who dies in a terrible accident while moving a large construction crane. He comes back to life as a ghost and finds himself trapped in the construction site known as "the zone". The game has many puzzles to solve and challenges to master. The obstacles in your way may look tricky, but they have set challenges in advance for you to overcome. You need to use your skills and think through the situation to advance on in the game. The game uses the physics engine with certain constraints. The player character has to stay within a footprint of a construction machine and can not go to a floor if his head hits the roof, as an example. If the player character is using a vehicle, their feet have to stay within the footprint of the vehicle. If the vehicle is moving, the player character has to stay within the boundary of the vehicle. After the player character dies, they do not come back to life as a ghost. Instead, they appear from the edge of their life as a ghost, where a small building can be seen. At that point, you can use the remote control to move the player character to a new floor. The game will probably test your reaction time and reflexes, it's a platformer after all. Use your ability to explore the levels as best you can to advance. You have been given a wake up call at the beginning, but only on the next level after that. Approach the puzzle as you would a difficult engineering problem and use your logical thinking and problem solving to advance in the game. Delve into a game that challenges your reflexes, logic, and problem solving skills. You may need to play a couple of times to complete the game. The goal is to climb ever higher in the game, once you think you are finally at the top, you have to find the stairway. The game is fully playable using a controller or mouse and keyboard. Controls: WASD keys - move around Space Bar - jump Mouse - look around Mouse Click
