I'm using Prototype.js and I have a code that asks the user what items they want to add to the shopping cart. They click "add item", and in an immediate response their items are added to the cart. But as soon as the user clicks "add item" the page is refreshed. What are the best ways to have it add items to the cart, but without having to refresh the page? Can you give a code example? A: There is javascript way of doing that.
