importing the file? I've tried exporting the forms I need to change through the "edit table constraints" option but I have the same result on any of the forms: nothing happens. If I import the file manually, the constraints are applied, but I'm not able to add/remove them without importing the file again. Thank you in advance! P.S. I'm on Xrm 2013 and in the process of upgrading to Xrm 2014 A: There is a bug in CRM 2011 in that you cannot change table constraints unless you re-import the file. The file is empty before import and the constraints are not saved there. From the thread at Microsoft Connect: For the record, I've tested in CRM 2011, the previous version of CRM and even tested on the latest CRM version (at least in my environment) and the process always works as expected. We've actually had a bug in the CRM 2011 system even before the release of the SDK. In our case it was a basic bug of the table constraints system. (which basically c6a93da74d
